

Darigold Reddies

Featuring a pat of salted butter between a wax cover and card base.

Reddies pats are economical prepackaged portions for butter. They are simple and easy to use. They utilize no plastic whatsoever, simply paperboard and greaseproof paper. The paperboard may be treated or coated to keep it grease resistant. They have been a staple item for hospitals, cafeterias, fast food outlets, the military, and other government institutions in the U.S. for over 40 years.

Darigold, farmer owned since 1918.

Butter Tips

- Keeping butter refrigerated will double its shelf life.
- Butter, like all fats easily absorbs odors. Open packages of butter should be wrapped in aluminum foil. Whenever possible, keep butter away from foods with strong odors (onions, cabbage, garlic etc.)
- Butter can be frozen if double wrapped in foil. Frozen butter should be thawed in a refrigerator and not re-frozen.
